Focusing on the Gospel

Key words and phrases:

mother-in-law lay sick, approached, grasped her hand, helped her up, all who were ill, the whole of Galilee.

To the point: Jesus' healing of Peter's mother-in-law was very personal: he approached her, grasped her hand, and helped her up. Further, in reaching out to "the whole of Galilee" Jesus responds to the universal human condition of misery and hopelessness.

But he always does so in a very personal way. The ministry of Jesus is truly about all humanity's experiencing the transformation of human hopelessness through personal encounter with Jesus.

Stewardship

In our Church today, few concepts are more misunderstood than the concept of Catholic stewardship. I know, I know, many hear the word “stewardship” and immediately it morphs into “fund-raising.” But that is not really what stewardship is about. Not at all.

Quite simply, the good steward is the person who takes care of whatever it is that she or he has been entrusted. Uses it well, to good purpose. Doesn't squander it. As the U.S. Catholic bishops said in Stewardship: A Disciple's Response: “A Christian steward is one who receives God's gifts gratefully, cherishes and tends them in a responsible and accountable manner, shares them in justice and love with others and returns them with increase to the Lord.”

When we think about it, good stewardship affects every part of our lives. If we have wasted a talent, or dawdle our time away with worthless pursuits, or squander our resources, something inside of us just doesn't feel right. That's because our inner compass senses the right direction, even when we sometimes wander off course.

On the other hand, when we are using our time, our talents and our material resources well, we feel in balance, in tune with God. We realize we have been generously given those gifts and, in turn, we are using them for good purposes.

As I've been traveling around the country and visiting in parishes, I wanted to find out more about stewardship and, if you will, wanted to see if there are some common qualities—let's call them “secrets”—that good stewards have in common. Here they are and I'll bet at least half of them will surprise you. Successful stewards...

In coming weeks we will look into the “secrets” Paul Wilkes refers to in today's article.
